

FORTUNE

JULY 22-24, 2009
LANGHAM HOTEL
PASADENA

The editors of Fortune congratulate IEEE on your 125th anniversary. We are pleased to team up again with IEEE as our Program Partner to present Fortune Brainstorm: Tech this July 22-24 at the Langham Hotel in Pasadena. Our goal is to tap into the collective brainpower of the smartest people we know to explore the trends changing the future of business. The program – focused on the innovative ideas and technologies emerging from these chaotic times – is shaping up well.

Program Highlights Include:

- IEEE Fellow Saifur Rahman will chair a roundtable to discuss “Smart Grid: Making it a Reality.” He will be joined by IEEE’s past president, Leah Jamieson, and John McDonald of GE.
- Hear from CEOs including Bob Iger of Disney, Barry Diller of IAC, John Donahoe of eBay, Tim Armstrong of AOL, Randall Stephenson of AT&T, Jeffrey Katzenberg of DreamWorks Animation, Mark Hurd of HP, Paul Jacobs of QUALCOMM, and Dan Hesse of Sprint.
- Providence Equity’s Jonathan Nelson, Silver Lake’s David Roux, and Allen & Co.’s Nancy Peretsman will weigh in on their tech-bet strategies.
- Can you really change the world in 140 characters? Ask Twitter cofounder Biz Stone – or actor and super-Twitterer Ashton Kutcher.

Participants and speakers are a hand-selected, invitation-only group of media and tech thinkers, entrepreneurs, innovators, and visionaries.
